ALHAMBRA HEAD LINER IS HORSE

LINER IS HORSE

King, the top liner at the Alhambra theater, has horse sense. He has to have to do his act at the new El Paso

King is a borse, a beautiful milk tell time, knows colors, can add, subtract, multiply and do other equins impossibilities. He is directed by King Baxter, the other King of the team and they furnish a half hour of wholesome entertainment.

Toki Murati, a Japanese jusgier and slack wire walker, does things with his

His closing stunt is to do a "split" on the slack wire and pick a handkerchiel from the wire with his toeth.

The two Kings, a boy and girl team of singers, entertain cleverly with a singing and dancing act that is full of childish enthesism and was a decided

"Noel and Irville" are the big surprise of this week's hill, but they must be seen to appreciate their act, for words cannot do then fusice. The Two Kings" are juvenile artists of financial technique and it is a treat to witness two youngsters who can acquit themselves so creditably. Their singing and dancing is of a high order.
